Partnership Agreement with PsychForums

The University of Hartford has established a partnership with the online support forum Psychforums—an online resource and support forum for conversations on a wide variety of mental health conditions.

This partnership allows University of Hartford researchers to recruit research participants from the site: https://www.psychforums.com.

If you wish to use this resource, please see the guidelines for how to proceed at: https://www.psychforums.com/surveys-studies/topic44450.html.

You must secure University of Hartford HSC approval for your project prior to sending your study text to PsychForums administrators for their approval.
