Health Sciences, Assistant Professor, Tenure Track

The College of Education, Nursing and Health Professions at the University of Hartford invites applications for a full-time (10-months, tenure track) position in Health Science at the rank of Assistant Professor to begin August 2016. Our inclusive University community is well situated in New England at the nexus of suburban and urban Hartford within a two hours drive from Boston and New York.

The chosen candidate’s primary responsibilities will include: culturally responsive teaching in foundational health sciences and advanced courses in the candidate’s field of expertise, with opportunities to participate in our innovative interdisciplinary All University Curriculum; contributions to ongoing program development and assessment; active involvement in Department, College, and University committees; a focused line of research or scholarship leading to peer-reviewed publications, presentations, and pursuit of grant support; and service to academic, professional, and Hartford area communities. Those interested in the advancement of healthcare in underserved populations are strongly encouraged to apply. The requirements for this position include an earned doctorate in a health related field from an accredited institution at the time of appointment, doctoral candidates completing dissertation will be considered. Preferred qualifications include: proficiency in classroom instruction; familiarity with student advising; and experience in curriculum design and program assessment and evaluation.

The College of Education, Nursing and Health Professions (ENHP) offers 27 undergraduate to doctoral programs and certificates united by a common goal, to achieve “excellence through relevance.” Known for its partnership work in urban Hartford, as well as internationally in Peru, Brazil, Mexico, Kenya, and Rwanda, the college emphasizes activities that help “translate theory into best practice, and back.” Signature annual events such as the Connecticut STEM Conference and our celebratory ENHP Day provide opportunities for students, faculty members, and community partners to network and showcase their scholarly works. ENHP embraces diversity, and its role in preparing students and future professionals to address the needs of an increasingly multicultural society. Its innovative Institute for Translational Research supports collaborative initiatives through seed funds and a comprehensive grants infrastructure. More information about the College can be found at www.hartford.edu/ENHP.

Students at the University of Hartford find success in a learning environment that both challenges and mentors them. Our academic mission is to engage students in acquiring the knowledge, skills, and values necessary to thrive in, and contribute to, a pluralistic and complex world. Our new five-year strategic plan was approved in May of 2014 and is being implemented by teams of faculty and staff. The full text of our academic mission can be seen at http://hartford.edu. The University of Hartford is an open and welcoming community, which values diversity in all its forms. In addition, the University aspires to have its faculty and staff reflect the rich diversity of its student body and the Hartford region. Candidates committed to working with diverse populations and conversant in multicultural issues are encouraged to apply.
Interested candidates should submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae with current email address, and the names and contact information for three references to Daniel N. DeMaio, Search Committee Chair, Department of Health Sciences and Nursing, University of Hartford, Dana Hall 429, 200 Bloomfield Ave., West Hartford, CT 06117, ddemaio@hartford.edu, 860.768.4377. Inquiries are encouraged. Please combine materials into a single PDF. For best consideration, materials should be sent by January 15, 2016.

The candidate offered the position will be required to furnish transcripts and complete a background check prior to the start of employment. Level of appointment will be commensurate with degree and prior experience.

The University of Hartford is an Equal Opportunity and Affirmative Action employer, Male/Female/Disabled/Veteran. Women and members of under-represented groups are encouraged to apply. EEO/M/F/D/V.