

Frederick J. Mahaffey
Memorial Architecture Scholarship
Master of Architecture Program

Department of Architecture | College of Engineering, Technology, and Architecture
Graduate Program Director | Visiting Assistant Professor Daniel Horowitz, AIA

About the Scholarship

The purpose of the endowed scholarship is to honor the memory of Frederick J. Mahaffey, a former professor of Architecture at the University of Hartford, by awarding a scholarship to a student or students studying architecture at the graduate level.

Eligibility and Criteria

Eligible students include any student who is enrolled as a full-time student in the Master of Architecture Program at the University of Hartford for the fall semester following the application deadline. Eligible applications include returning students, as well as incoming first year students who have been accepted, deposited, and are enrolled for the fall term. Applicants must demonstrate outstanding academic performance & leadership, and have a minimum 3.0 GPA. Per the donor's gift instructions, preference will be given to a student who indicates that they are a member of the LGBT community; however, this is not a requirement for receiving the award.

Award

The scholarship award is dispersed as one lump sum. The value of the award varies; however in recent years the scholarship award was approximately $3,000.

Selection Process

Those applying for the Scholarship must submit a narrative addressing how they meet the criteria described above. The narrative should be clear and concise and of 300-400 words in length. The application submission should be a PDF, submitted to Daniel Horowitz, Graduate Program Director (dhorowitz@hartford.edu). Completed applications are due March 25, 2025. Applications are reviewed by the faculty in the Department of Architecture, announced in mid-April, and awarded prior to the Fall term.

Award and Acceptance

Once notified of the scholarship award, the applicant will have two weeks to accept the scholarship award. As indicated above, incoming first year students must have deposited and enrolled in the program in order to receive the scholarship.
